Gen. Butler's Speech at Lowell, Mass.

Major General Butler arrived at Lowell, Mass., Sunday [illegible] at noon, and in the evening addressed his fellow-citizens at Huntington Hall. There was a great and enthusiastic gathering of the people present, probably no less than 4,000. Mayor Peabody briefly welcomed the General home, and then introduced him to the audience, whose demonstrations were of the most flattering character.

Gen. Butler said that he should speak to them of what had happened to the country, and what had occurred in the department, to take command of which he had left them a year ago last November. On assuming the position which had devolved upon him by the partiality of the President, he had looked about him to see what was to do. He found eighteen thousand freedmen needing his attention. It seemed that his first duty was to them. He established an organization of labor, and meanwhile provided them with food, raiment, and protection from the inclemency of the weather. The result of this portion of his work had been to bring five thousand colored troops into the army. It had been demonstrated that the former slave population could make itself supporting. He said that his next step was to attend to the exchange of prisoners, and he had settled every point but one, viz: in regard to colored troops. The rebels threatened to enslave them and set them to work. He then proposed to himself to carry on a system of special exchanges until he had reduced the proportion of prisoners so, that while they might have some 500 in their hands, he would have 15,000, and then he could say, "Make slaves of those 500 and I will set these 15,000 at work, and we will see."

The General then referred to the orders he had received to stop all exchanges, and said that if he was asked why he left 15,000 men starving in rebel prisons, he could declare that the stain of their blood was not upon his garments.

He next alluded to the fall of Plymouth and the evacuation of Wilmington, North Carolina. He spoke somewhat in detail of the movements of the Army of the James upon Bermuda Hundred, and of the Army of the Potomac from the Rapidan upon Mechanicsville, the design of those movements, and the cause of their failure, and then proceeded to speak of the affair at Wilmington and Fort Fisher. He said that as early as August last, Admiral Porter's fleet had assembled at Fort Monroe in preparation for the movement, but, through great flourish of trumpets, its design became known, and the sailing was postponed. He referred to the preparations finally made for the undertaking, and the delays which had occurred when the expedition reached its destination, and then spoke of the powder-boat, which was stated to have been prepared by him. He had lived among them man and boy for forty years, and with their consent expected to live among them thirty years longer, and they knew he would not misrepresent the fact. He had never seen that powder-boat, and had only ordered his ordnance officers to turn over a quantity of powder to the naval officer in charge. The thing was planned by the navy, and they had it all their own way. The dispatch which stated that he was the author of the scheme was a lie, and the truth was not in it. He had been assured that he should be informed when the boat was to be exploded, but he was sixty-five miles away, at Beaufort, when the explosion took place, and Admiral Porter knew he was there.

In regard to the assault on Fort Fisher, Gen. Butler said he had been definitely told by the most skillful engineer officers that if he ordered it it would be murder. It was charged that he was not in command of the expedition, but could he even then have done otherwise than follow the advice of Gen. Weitzel? He did his duty according to his best judgment. As he lived, and as God lived, if the occasion was to recur, even in view of all this stream of obloquy that was pouring upon him, he would do so again, praying, however, "Lead us not into temptation," for the temptation was strong to take it.

But he did not care a rapper. He had stood much worse storms, and if he lived could stand a thousand more. He was here on a letter from the Lieut.-General to the President, but no word of Fort Fisher, no word of Wilmington, was assigned as the reason of his presence. What the true reason was he had not received permission to divulge. He had been called by some the hero of Big Bethel and Fort Fisher. He accepted the honor.

The General then spoke of the explosion of the Dutch Gap Canal. It did not, perhaps make so large a hole as the mine at Petersburg, but he had not filled it with American dead until it ran blood. He desired to have it inscribed on his tombstone in that little inclosure where his remains would one day be laid: "Here lies the General who saved the lives of his soldiers at Fort Fisher and Big Bethel."

He had criticised no man, no army man, but had criticised somewhat sharply the froth, which is always the accompaniment of lively Porter.

Gen. Butler then proceeded to discuss the prospects of the National cause. He said that he was prepared for more endurance, more strife, in the service of the country. If at any time in the future the country needed his services, it would be freely tendered, as it had been in the past. Whatever mistakes may have been committed by men at the head of our affairs, we should not spare our efforts. "Don't," he said, "be carried away by any delusive ideas of peace. The time for peace has not come, and to talk of peace until the army of Lee is whipped or captured is vain. See that the Union armies are filled up—that recruiting goes on."

Of our ultimate success there could be no doubt. A lasting peace would be finally established, provided we dealt fairly and justly with all men, black and white; but, on no other terms. Do everything you can to sustain the Government, and the President at the head of the Government. He is honest, patriotic and capable, and he will do all that he can. Gen. Butler said he would have them, however, as far as possible, by voice and vote, oppose the method of filling up our armies by means of large bounties. Large bounties did not get the best men, and they were putting a great burden of taxation upon the laboring men, besides being in other respects a measure of questionable utility. The General next referred to the proposition which he made just after the [illegible] of the Army of the James had said to the mob of New York: "Peace, be still." That proposition was one of unconditional pardon to the rebels if they would submit to the laws. It was objected to that this made no provision for the freedom of the negro. Why not? He regarded the emancipation proclamation of President Lincoln as the law of the land. If the rebels would not accept that proposition, he proposed in filling up the Union armies for a recruited [illegible] substitute for the large bounties now paid, [illegible] Southern [illegible] taking it from the [illegible] made it a curse to the country instead of the [illegible] it was intended to be.

[illegible] apologized for speaking at such a length. He was ordered to report at [illegible] well, and he had now reported in full. They had a right to know if their welcome was worthily [illegible]. He referred to the apparent prosperity of the people, and said that Gen. Terry would [illegible] them that from Wilmington which would make all their spindles turn with the hum of industry. Never had the interest of the welfare of [illegible] been other than the object of his thought. With thanks for their hearty welcome, he then [illegible] good night.

[illegible] repeatedly interrupted with long and loud applause.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 17, 1865.

A Constitutional Question.

As Mr. Harding very freely condemns the action of the late Legislature and the Governor respecting the granting of bounties to soldiers and declares the laws passed thereto to be unconstitutional, we may as well devote a little space to the new aspect he gives the State finances or would give them if his opinion should prevail.

The Constitution of Oregon limits the amount of debt to be incurred by the Legislative Assembly to "the sum of fifty thousand dollars, except in case of war, or to repel invasion, or suppress insurrection; and every contract of indebtedness entered into or assumed by, or on behalf of the State, when all its liabilities and debts amount to said sum, shall be void and of no effect." These are the words of the Constitution, and upon these words the ex-Senator founds his assumption of the unconstitutionality of the acts of the Legislature referred to.

We knew of old that Mr. Harding made some pretension to the knowledge and practice of the law, but we had no idea that he set up to be the judge of constitutional law, that the man must be who can construe the language of the Constitution quoted above, to mean what it does not say, and not to mean what it does say.

It may be matter of news to the gentleman, but this is really a time of war, furthermore this is a time of rebellion, and there have been several invasions of the loyal States reported as having happened since the commencement of the war. When the call was made for the infantry regiment, and later still to fill up the cavalry, it was made in view of war, invasion and rebellion; and the necessity to guard the State was the pretext for the call. These troops raised in Oregon have volunteered at the call of the United States "to repel invasion" and subdue insurrection; they are liable to be ordered wherever the Government needs them; they fill the bill—if anything can—made out by the Constitution, and when this call was made the Legislature feeling that Oregon had been altogether spared from the National affliction, and that we should not be in any measure laggard or lacking, and that the poor pay awarded those serving in the ranks, would not answer the desired end, offered a bounty from the State Treasury to further the work, and secure the number of volunteers needed from this State. Whether that call was made in consonance with the intention of the Government we may not have known, but we had no reason to doubt; whether Gen. McDowell was authorized to make it, we had no means of information and no need to enquire. The call was made properly to all appearance, and was promptly complied with. Oregon did her duty and the people of the State will not repudiate the act.

Mr. Harding comes from Washington rather in advance of the necessary time. He may not have been of any use there, particularly, and have concluded to return and seasonably commence his preaching of this new gospel. Perhaps he had as well remained to let the world see Oregon properly represented in the Senate chamber. As we said upon his return, he had consistently voted with the Administration, as we believed, and we felt pleased that he had. Many had said he would not, but though he hung fire occasionally when here last fall, and gave some ground for unbelief to a few, we still are glad to say of him that he has generally reflected the wishes of the majority of his constituents in his Congressional action, so much so good. We desire to detract nothing, and while we extenuate nothing we will set down nought in malice. Plainly speaking of his claim to be an exponent of the Constitution on the point referred to, we think him very lame; and a little plainer yet, having heard many reports of his remarks about different public matters, we respectfully suggest to the public at large that the ex-Senator, having failed to particularly distinguish himself in his Congressional career, is trying to redeem his past failures after the opportunity is past, by performing the acrobatic feat of running the several different parties in Oregon, all at one and the same time, and by his pretension to a knowledge of constitutional law.

WILLAMETTE FALLS CANAL.—The project of constructing a canal at Oregon City, by means of which, freight may be passed through both ways without trans-shipment, is worthy of the highest encouragement. It is really the only feasible and useful plan yet proposed for avoiding the expense and delay incident to the portage around the falls. A railroad there will always be but an expedient—a canal will be a permanent work. When it is built, not only the delay experienced by shippers, in consequence of the portage, will be avoided, but also the injury to goods, arising from frequent handling, be it done ever so carefully, will be prevented.

The estimated cost of the canal—$200,000 or $300,000—can be saved to the people of the valley, we may say with certainty, within five years. The Falls Canal Company have issued a prospectus, from which may be derived valuable information relating to the projected work. Mr. Harvey, of Oregon City, has offered the right of way to the Company. Several thousand dollars worth of stock has already been taken. Shares are fixed at $50 each. The Company, however, offer the remainder of the stock at $40 per share, and have passed a resolution that none shall be disposed of for a less sum. There is great reason to hope that the canal will be constructed the present year.

ENCYCLICAL LETTER.—An Eastern exchange says that Archbishop Purcell will be heard from on the subject of the Papal letter, and is confident the American people will be satisfied with his position. We have always thought Bishop Purcell had a correct appreciation of the principles of our Government and was liberal minded for a Prelate, and we think so still.

The New York World said it had "the pleasure of announcing the great news of the capture of Fort Fisher." That is rather a different style of expression from the slang we find in the Oregon organs of Democracy. The fact is, if they feel "pleasure" they don't often announce it, and if they were to announce it now, we wouldn't be very apt to believe it.

GOLD IN CONNECTICUT.—Our exchanges tell of a gold-bearing quartz vein discovered at Greenwich, Connecticut, and one piece of ore valued at $800 that was brought to light from it. Dr. Keith, the mineralogist, is owner of the land and is busy mining upon it.

EXPENSIVE.—The city of New York has a population about double that of the State of California. The expenses of New York for its city and county are fifteen millions per annum—over five times greater than the expenses of the State of California.

DATES TO MARCH 13.

Sheridan's Report.

HEADQUARTERS, MIDDLE MILITARY DISTRICT, COLUMBIA, March 10.—To Grant:—In my last, dated at Waynesboro, I gave you a brief account of the defeat of Early by Custer's division. The same night this division was pushed across the Blue Ridge, and entered Charlottesville at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the next day. The Mayor and the principal citizens of the place came out and delivered up the keys of the public buildings.

I had to remain at Charlottesville two days. The time was consumed in bringing over from Waynesboro our ammunition and pontoon trains. The weather was miserable and it was necessary [illegible] two divisions were during this time occupied in destroying the two large iron bridges, one over Rivanna river and the other over Moore's creek near Charlottesville, and the railroad for the distance of eight miles in the direction of Lynchburg. On the 6th of March I sent the first division, Gen. Devens commanding, to Scottsville, on the James river, with directions to send out light parties through the country to destroy all merchandise, mills and factories, and the bridges on the Rivanna river, the parties to join the division at Scottsville. The division then proceeded along the canal to Duguidsville, 15 miles from Lynchburg, destroying every lock and in many places the banks of the canal. At Duguidsville we hoped to secure the bridge to cross the river, as our pontoons were useless on account of the high water. In this we were foiled, as both bridges at this place were burned by the enemy upon our approach. Merritt accompanied this division.

The third division started at the same time from Charlottesville and proceeded down the Lynchburg Railroad to Amherst Court House, destroying every bridge on the road and in many places miles of the road. The bridges on this road are numerous, some of them 500 feet in length. We found great abundance in this country for our men and animals. In fact the canal had been the great feeder of Richmond. At Rockfish river the banks of the canal were cut and at New Canton where the dam is across the James, the guard lock was destroyed and the James turned into the canal, carrying away the banks and washing out the bottom of the canal. The dam across the James at this point was partially destroyed. I have had no opposition. Everybody is bewildered by our movements. I have had no news of any kind since I left. The bridges on the railroad from Swoope's river, on the other side of Staunton to Charlottesville, were utterly destroyed, also the bridges for ten miles on the Gordonsville Railroad.

The weather has been very bad. Indeed it has been raining very hard every day, with the exception of four days, since we started. My wagons have, from the state of the roads, detained me up to the present time. We have captured fourteen pieces of artillery—eleven at Waynesboro and three at Charlottesville. The party I sent back from Waynesboro started with six pieces, but were obliged to destroy two of the six for want of animals. The remaining eight pieces were thoroughly destroyed. We have also captured twelve canal boats laden with supplies, ammunition, rations, medical stores, &c. Commodore Hollins, of the rebel navy, was shot near Gordonsville while attempting to make his escape from our advance in that direction. (Signed)

SHERIDAN.

Sherman's March.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Another skirmish between Sherman's cavalry and that under Wade Hampton on the third of March, at a point not named, is reported in the Richmond papers. The rebel Colonel Aiken was killed and Hampton's Adjutant General was wounded. These are all the particulars of the affair furnished.

The Richmond Examiner is informed by a rebel officer from South Carolina, that Sherman has completely devastated the portion of that State through which he passed. The officer says he has not spared a house in his track.

The Richmond Examiner of the 10th says: The latest advices from Lynchburg show that the place is safe.

One of the Richmond papers complains of the injustice done to the soldiers by withholding their pay.

Movements in North Carolina—Fighting around Kingston.

NEWBERN, N. C., March 9.—Maj.-Gen. Schofield and staff arrived here to-day, having left Wilmington on Monday last.

The rebel papers are ignorant of Sherman's whereabouts. The roads are in a very bad condition, which impede his progress somewhat.

The enemy is in considerable force at Kingston, North Carolina—having recently been reinforced by Lee's corps, from Hood's army, reported there yesterday. The enemy captured some of our skirmishers near Kingston, belonging to the 15th Connecticut and 17th Massachusetts regiments. [This, by a comparison of dates, will be found to be the great victory recently claimed by Lee.—Ed. Ore.]

Bragg is reported to have command of the enemy's forces at Kingston. Maj. Gen. Cox has command of our forces at that point.

PHILADELPHIA, March 13.—The Bulletin's Washington correspondent says: A letter dated near Kingston the 9th, says that Bragg again attacked Cox's corps, making two separate assaults, which were repelled with heavy loss to the enemy. Rogers' division, the 2d corps, captured one piece of artillery and 200 prisoners. The enemy left the field in confusion. All their killed and wounded fell into our hands.

NEWBERN, N. C., March —.—The enemy is highly elated with the capture of two or three small guns and fine skirmishers in our front, made several charges yesterday of the most reckless character, in which they were repulsed each time with heavy loss.

Our forces are well entrenched, and are now within three miles of Kingston, to which point the railroad is completed.

The enemy still continue to receive reinforcements, and they evidently intend to make a stubborn resistance at Kingston.

A division communicated with Cox last night, from Beaver Dam, eight miles from the latter's headquarters. Couch joins Cox's forces this morning, which indicates battle.

To-day the enemy shows signs of weakness and will probably fall back to the other side of the Neuse river and make a stand in Kinston. They are reported to number from 15,000 to 20,000. A rebel ram is stationed at Kinston to protect the bridge across Neuse river which is an extensive structure. It is reported that Lee and Breckinridge from Richmond visited Kinston and gave instructions. Gen. Schofield remains in the field with Cox giving instructions. The enemy are much alarmed and mystified in regard to Sherman's movements. We expect to hear from him in a day or two.

Affairs in Shenandoah Valley.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Gen. Emory, of the Nineteenth Corps, has succeeded Gen. Hancock as commander of the Middle Military Division, comprising the lower part of Shenandoah valley and other territory in that region, during the continuation of Gen. Sheridan's more active field operations.

The greater part of the rebel troops in the Shenandoah valley have been concentrated in the vicinity of Lynchburg, which place, some accounts represent, they were still busily engaged in strengthening at a very recent date, probably with a design of affording Lee another [illegible] to fall back to when Richmond and Petersburg shall become untenable.

Large supplies of food for needy residents, furnished by the Shenandoah Relief Association, have arrived in the Shenandoah valley.

From Richmond Papers.

Richmond journals of last Friday announced that the removal of the gold belonging to the banks of that city had already commenced, and in the strongest language the Legislature and the people are called upon to put a stop to this exodus of the precious metal, on the ground that if removed, it will nearly all get into the hands of the Yankees, and besides upon it depends the very safety of the rebel capital.

The Richmond editors are very angry over the seizure at Fredericksburg, Va., by the National troops of some 200,000 pounds of tobacco which had been sent there from Petersburg. They say it was understood that there was an agreement on both sides that the tobacco should go safely through their lines, and that they should receive bacon in return for it. They consider its capture a Yankee trick, with which [illegible], who has been in Richmond for some time past, is suspected of having had something to do.

Bragg's Victory Discredited.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Herald's special despatch says: The War Department attaches very little importance to Bragg's reported success in North Carolina, as the force captured must have been only a construction party accompanied by a small force as guard. They were re-opening the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad.

French Reverses in Mexico.

NEW YORK, March 13.—The Herald's New Orleans letter says Juarez is reported to be advancing on Matamoras with 5,000 men. Mejia has 1,000 and is afraid he will be compelled to surrender. He sent out Cortinas with a regiment to check the progress of Juarez, but Cortinas surrendered his whole force of Mexicans to Juarez. The reason given for this is that Maximilian agreed to give Cortinas a half million of dollars [illegible] his command to the Imperial [illegible] the Emperor [illegible] Juarez [illegible] the treachery of the Mexican [illegible] troops in the service of Max[illegible].

Slaughter, commanding the rebel forces at Brownsville on the Rio Grande, is said to have [illegible] the Imperial [illegible]. It is feared that the Union forces at Brazos Santiago were making preparations to attack [illegible] town. [illegible] were moved [illegible].

California News.

SAN FRANCISCO, March [illegible].—[illegible] Burns, who was [illegible], has since been charged with the murder of Charles Hill whose body was discovered at the [illegible]. The evidence against Burns is wholly circumstantial, but is of the strongest character. [illegible] when Hill was last seen. Hill's jewelry, keys, &c., were found on Burns' person, and Burns' clothes covered with blood were found in Hill's trunk, where Burns acknowledges to have placed them after returning to town. A halter strap by which Hill's body had been dragged over the ground, has been identified as one taken from the stable by them.

There has been a run on the Hibernia Savings and Loan Bank to-day. The building has been literally besieged by depositors, most of whom were of the working class. The affairs of the bank are said to be in an excellent condition. They deposited their securities with the Bank of California and obtained all the money they required [illegible] the Society [illegible].

A meeting of [illegible] will be held to-morrow to consider the proposition of Adolph Sutro for a tunnel to drain the Comstock ledge.

The rates of passage per next steamer are: first cabin, outside rooms, $250; first cabin, inside rooms, $160; second cabin, $[illegible]; steerage, $90.

The complaint of Christiana [illegible] against Casper Wolf, [illegible], who done her out of one thousand dollars under an alleged promise of marriage, was dismissed to-day, it being proved that she [illegible]. Wolf succeeded in sending her to New York giving her a fifty thousand dollar draft to defray the expenses, promising to follow her by the next steamer. On her arrival at New York, her draft proved to be an advertising bill of the Mexican Mustang Liniment Bank. And her lover failed to arrive according to promise.

It is officially stated that owing to the limited amount of carrying trade the steamship companies will run but one steamer per month between San Francisco and Victoria.

On this four British merchants here say an opposition will be placed on the route.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPT STAMPS.—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has announced the following decision:

Treasury Department, Office of Internal Revenue, Washington, January 16, 1865.—In reply to your letter of the 13th instant, I have to say that where the acknowledgment of a sum of money, or a debt due, is contained in a letter, such is a valid legal receipt for the money, and if the amount exceeds $20 it requires a stamp of two cents. If A. B. addresses a letter to C. D., saying: "Your letter of January 14, enclosing $100 on account has been received," I do not see how the case differs from the one where he writes: "Received from C. D. $100 on account." Both are receipts.

Very respectfully,
JOSEPH J. LEWIS, Com'r.

LANDS FOR THE STATE.—Messrs. John H. Moores and A. C. R. Shaw, Commissioners appointed by the Legislative Assembly purchased last week of Luke Savage, 147 acres of land about one and a half miles east of town, for the purpose of locating the Penitentiary and Insane Asylum. The price paid was $35 per acre, $2,000 additional for the water power with the privilege of taking a race through other land of Savage. The water power is one of the best in the State. There is about sixteen feet fall, by constructing a race a mile long, and the whole volume of water taken from the [illegible] by the Willamette Woolen Manufacturing Company can be used.—Statesman.

COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS APPOINTED.—We have definite information that Mr. Fred. A. Wilson, of Port Townsend, has been appointed Collector of Customs for the Sound District. Mr. Wilson is an old resident of the Territory, and has long been identified with its commercial interests, and has a thorough knowledge of its shipping business. Besides he is an unflinching Union man, and the appointment was well bestowed.—Pacific Tribune.

SCHOOL STATISTICS.—Rev. Mr. Atkinson has left with us the facts for the following compilation of statistics in reference to the schools of Multnomah County. They relate to an important branch of our progress, and will be read with interest. The schools of our county have, under the management of the present incumbent of the Superintendent's office, fared well, and appear to be prospering finely. There are twenty-seven school Districts in the county, of which fourteen have school houses, the total value of which, estimated with grounds, is placed at $20,000. The average number of quarters' school to each District is found to be one and a half, or a little more than four months. The average number of scholars attending, has been 24 to each District. Eighteen female and sixteen male teachers have been employed in Public Schools the past year, at a monthly salary of $40 for the latter, and $25 24 for the former. The number of High Schools or Academies in the county, are seven, with an average attendance of one hundred scholars. The pay of teachers in such, is averaged at $71 per month. The whole number of voters in the county, according to the District reports is given at 1,009, which is properly, including only those estimated as residents, taking part in the School Meetings of the various Districts, we presume. The returns show 1,352 persons over four and under twenty years of age, 951 of whom are males, and 1,011 females. The taxes levied and collected for the past year amount to $4,575 01. Teachers have received from School Fund, $2,918 76. Teachers have received from other sources of taxes and subscription, $5,005 75. Incidental expenses have been $1,115 61. Sander's series of readers and spellers are used in 20 Districts; Parker & Watson's in 7; Monteith's and McNally's Geographies in 20; Davie's series of Arithmetics in 10; Thompson's in 10; Clark's Grammars in 11; Bullion's, Pinneo's and others in 10; Willard's U. S. History in 7; Spencer's Copy-Book in 7; Colburn's Mental Arithmetics in 3; Thomson & Davis' in 3. A few other varieties of text books are scattered among the schools, multiplying classes, confusing pupils, and hindering teachers. The Superintendent urges a thorough statistical return of the text books used in the whole State, so that any future attempts to establish a uniform series upon the different subjects of study, may be wisely made, and if possible, so as to save expenses to the families, who desire and receive the benefits of our Public Schools, while, also, the best books are chosen."

RECORDER'S COURT.—No items of interest have transpired in the Recorder's Court for several days. The only case on Wednesday, was that of an unlucky pilgrim of the Celestial flowery persuasion, who had made the slight mistake of selling segars without license, supposing that a Government permit to manufacture, gave the right to retail on the streets. John's little error was soon rectified by the honorable Judge McCoy, who explained the necessities of the case, after which John pungled his fee, costs, &c., amounting in all, to $8 00, and departed, thoroughly enlightened in regard to the nature of Government manufacturing permits. On yesterday there were four cases of the violent and disorderly character up before the Judge, with the following results: James Gales committed to jail for two days; Oliver Brown for three days—sufficient time to throw him into a Brown study on the folly of going on drunks. Indian Jim and Charles, were each sentenced to spend five days of their valuable time in the City Prison. No doubt this will have an exhilerating effect on them, and have a tendency to make them—"Good Injin!"

WILLAMETTE THEATRE.—There will be no performance at the Theatre this evening. On to-morrow evening will be presented the thrilling sensation drama entitled the "Robbers of the Pyrenees," which is a good play, and, undoubtedly, will draw a good house of the admirers of the drama. Waldron, Taylor, Miss Belle Douglas, Mrs. McDonald, and all of the dramatic corps will all appear in their usual role of characters. Miss Belle Divine will appear and sing one of her favorite ballads, in which she never fails in getting a good round of applause. We omitted to notice Little Emma's "Eva," on Wednesday night, which character she took admirably, and was the particular star of the evening. Her song in the character was well executed, and deserving of praise.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The communication which appeared in yesterday's paper on this subject, contained some excellent suggestions. We should be glad to see the style of pavement there so highly recommended, tested here. Almost anything is better than ordinary planking. Planked streets are invariably filthy, and often unsafe for horses; besides they always present an appearance of decay. The crevices between, and the spans under the planks are a receptacle for all manner of filth. Planking is only a temporary expedient in any city, and the sooner Portland gives it up and resorts to some permanent method of improving her streets, the sooner will she begin the practice of a true economy in this region.

SCARLATINA VS. DIPTHERIA.—We notice by the Sacramento Bee, that the former disease has made its appearance at Somerville, Alameda county, and as stated, is much more severe on children than the latter, which has been taking many of the "little prattlers" away in that section from the family circles. It is stated to be the most deceitful disease that has yet appeared, the symptoms of death being perceptible on a child within four minutes after its discovery. The pulse runs up to 154 and 160, and the patient seldom survives over twelve hours. Diptheria is bad enough, but this ("Scarlatina Maligna,") seems to "outrank" it considerable.

HOUSE BREAKING AND ROBBERY.—The Vancouver Brewery, which is not a brewery but a lager beer shop and lodging house, kept by Frederick Weiser, was broken into on Thursday morning after one o'clock. In one room up stairs, where three men were sleeping the thief extracted from their clothing $2 50, all they had. From another room a trunk was taken out the back door, broken open and four pair pants, three overcoats, one fine pair boots, and a silver watch with silver chain valued at $10 abstracted. The burglar then left without having disturbed any of the sleepers.

CHINESE BAWDY HOUSES SUPPRESSED.—The Dalles City Council have provided by ordinance for the prohibition of Chinese bawdy houses within the limits of that city. The penalty for the violation of the ordinance is a fine of not less than fifty nor more than $200 00, or in default, imprisonment of one day for every two dollars of the fine and costs until the same is paid. When will our Council follow this example?

COSMOPOLITAN.—Messrs. Barman Bro's have turned the Bank Exchange into a handsome bazaar of clothing, &c., with which they are making war against high prices. From their advertisement, which appears in another column, it is safe to presume they are quite liberal, and we feel they are deserving of a large patronage. An inspection of their goods can result in no loss to those wishing to purchase.

GOLD FOUND IN PORTLAND.—A nugget of gold worth about $3, was found in the excavations which were going on in some part of the city yesterday, but the full particulars of this new discovery, we are not thoroughly posted about. It is said to have been found accidentally by a gang of workmen on the street-grade.

NOT YET ARRIVED.—Up to the hour of going to press, the steamer Oregon which was looked for Wednesday evening, had not made her appearance. She will bring a large number of passengers en route for Boise Basin, Owyhee, and other mining camps.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—This being the 17th day of March, our Irish citizens will celebrate in becoming manner, the birth of their patron Saint. The programme of exercises have been published for some days in another column.

FINE SIGN.—We noticed in passing up the street yesterday a fine sign recently erected at the What Cheer House, nearly the entire length of the building—an ornament to the establishment.

SHERIFF'S SALE.—Sheriff Stitzel will to-day at one o'clock dispose of the trees and shrubbery on Court House Block, formerly owned by Thomas Pritchard.

ABOUT PORTLAND AND OREGON.—A correspondent of the Victoria Colonist says:

Four years has completely metamorphosed the town of Portland. Whole squares and sections of ragged and dilapidated shells and buildings have disappeared, and in their stead blocks of substantial edifices adorn the city. I shall not attempt to improve upon the guardian of Victoria, the Press, a photographic description of Portland of Victoria's [illegible] interests in the coming and going of new and [illegible] river boats, plying the waters of the Willamette and Columbia, distributing merchandise to up-country ports and collecting the products of Oregon to [illegible] upon the waters of the great Pacific, to feed and nourish the children of men. You have no interest in the great piles of iron lying upon the different wharves, shaped into boilers, engines, stamps, amalgamating pans, etc., saw mills and quartz mills for Oregon and Idaho, further beyond care about the continual ring, both day and night, of mechanical industry in and about Portland foundries, where workmen are riveting, forging, drilling and moulding the iron to work which grind the rocks of the mountains into that precious dust which yields [illegible] and labor, its gold and silver wealth. Portland can boast of more wealthy men than can any other city of its size in the United States, and the credit invested in the fact is that these fortunes were accumulated at Portland and in Oregon. The mud holes and mires, swamps and sloughs of Portland have increased with the expansion of the town. It is, without exception, one of the most extensive and ingeniously distributed mud holes in the world. If John Bunyan's Pilgrim had fallen into a slough similar to those reposing in every street at Portland, his career would have terminated there. It is most strange the frogs have not discovered these ponds; but perhaps they are not on settled terms with the webfoot nation. They (the Oregonians) have obtained a "new city charter," which is supposed to possess wonderful street improving qualities. On our arrival, some two months ago, we heard of the machine, but have not seen it work yet. They intend to take it out during the coming summer and grease it up, and test its power. Should it work well, the next generation of Oregonians residing at Portland will be blessed with passable thoroughfares.

There is a spirit at work undermining and uprooting the chronic indolence peculiar, with Oregonians, or—more properly—the squatters, whose greatest achievements during their lives consists in the power of endurance exhibited by them while they were sitting, and staying, and lolling upon Uncle Sam's farms during the years required to entitle them to pre-emptor's titles. The spirit we refer to is rolling in with the tide of emigration. It is the spirit of enterprise, the spirit of the times, the march of the age, and Oregon, touched by its magic influence, will spread her lap and exhibit to the world a land more fruitful than Canaan, and a country more burthened with precious metals than the famed "land of Ophir."

The correspondent of the Chronicle concludes with some sketches of old British Columbians here and at Owyhee who seem to have played "fantastic tricks" with our colonial neighbors, and incontinently left there to commence and continue the same in Oregon and Idaho.

No Disease without a Remedy.—A kind Providence has placed at the disposal of His intelligent creatures all the remedies requisite for the relief of such diseases as He permits to afflict mankind. Among the gravest in this category are those of the CHEST and LUNGS. A thorough and patient investigation into the character and treatment of these affections, has resulted in the SELECTION and APPROVAL, by the more intelligent of the present day, of NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP, the use of which is synonymous with speedy relief and health. Consumptives, try it!

Brandreth's Vegetable Pills.—This medicine, of enduring efficacy, is justly prized as a corrector of all disorders of the stomach and bowels, the usual symptoms of which are costiveness, spasms, loss of appetite, sick headache, giddiness, sense of bloating after meals, dizziness of the eyes, drowsiness and cramping in the stomach and bowels. These symptoms being suffered to remain, a torpid state of the liver supervenes, and all the horrors of dyspepsia are experienced. Every fiber of the frame is to a certain extent prostrated, but a little perseverance in the use of BRANDRETH'S PILLS will even restore the sufferer to a robust state. [illegible] Two or three doses will convince the afflicted of their salutary influence. The stomach will readily regain its strength, and healthy action of the liver will soon take place, and instead of listlessness, heat, pain and jaundiced appearance, activity, strength and renewed health will be the blessed result. Brandreth's Pills are sold at 25 cents a box, enveloped in full directions. The box also contains my private government stamp is on the box. See upon it "B. Brandreth" in white letters.

DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.
Although the fame of this renowned stomachic rests mainly on its astonishing cures of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and intestinal disorders, it is equally efficacious in nervous complaints. Thousands of individuals resort to it as a remedy for hysterics, fluttering of the heart, tic douloureux, headache, vertigo, general debility, and all the peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and lightens the depressed mental powers as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any unpleasant reaction.—Sold by Druggists and dealers everywhere. [illegible]

The Reason why so many Die with Consumption, is because they neglect to use the proper remedy in season. When the system is first attacked with a cough, oppression of the chest, or seated pains in the breast, Allen's Lung Balsam will cause the phlegm to raise, heals the irritated parts, and restores the system to health. Cure Your Cold, Save Your Lungs.

NEWELL'S
PULMONARY SYRUP HAS CURED THOUSANDS!
And it will Cure You!

"A Cough is generally the effect of a Cold, which has either been improperly treated or entirely neglected. When it proves obstinate there is Always reason to fear the consequences, as this shows a weak state of the lungs, and is often the forerunner of Consumption.—Buchanan's Domestic Medicine.

STOP THAT COUGHING!
Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the one destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supercede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure, but

Pulmonary Syrup!
Is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefited by its surprising curative powers.

WHAT KILLED HIM!
☞Dr. Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and adds: "He might have remained with us for some years to come, had it not been for advice, kindly intended, no doubt, but given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

He Had a Cold!
Which, by some injudicious prescription, had been converted into asthma." Let me say to Dr. Hall that that "prescription" was not

NEWELL'S
SYRUP.

KEEP IT IN THE HOUSE, use it freely, give it to your children upon the slightest indications of a Cold, and you will think and speak of it as all do who have become acquainted with its merits.

A Curious Wedding Scene.—The Bristol (England) Post of November 3d tells this story:

On Monday morning a youthful couple, with attendant groomsman and bridesmaid, set out for the register office at Merthyr, to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony. On the way, however, it was deemed necessary to screw their courage to the sticking point to brave the trying ordeal by "a draught of some stimulant." For the purpose of accomplishing this, the whole party turned into an inn and called for the necessary liquors. While musing on the approaching end of his bachelorhood, the bridegroom suddenly got up and swore that he would not be a fool nor a "deluded victim" that day. The bride demanded an explanation, and her beloved informed her that, after giving the matter consideration, he had come to the conclusion that the sacrifice was greater than he could bear, and he could not—nay, would not—marry her. The ladies were in a fix, then, when the groomsman hit upon a plan, and told the ladies to go on and walk boldly into the register's office. They did so. Having persuaded his friend that he had got rid of them, he got the reluctant bridegroom to walk into the street with him, and cautiously led him toward the dreaded goal. When close to it the faithless swain rushed into a public house, but was promptly stopped by his best man, who, on this occasion, proved his better man, and seizing him with a firm grasp, carried him across the road and thrust him into the office, where he was confronted by his trembling spouse, and awed into obedience by the presence of the registrar, who speedily bound them "indissolubly firm." Some time ago a couple went from Penrheolgerrig to be married, but the bridegroom walked off with the money which the bride had given him to pay the registrar, and lost it in playing pitch and toss with his companions. The wedding had thus to be put off till the next day, when the young woman kept a sharp lookout on her lord, nor left him till she had secured his person if not his allegiance.

A Curious Case of Somnambulism.—One of the most remarkable cases on record is related by the Archbishop of Bordeaux in the Encylopedie Methodique. It was concerning a young priest in the Catholic seminary, who used to rise in his sleep and write sermons. Having written a page he would read it alone and make corrections. "I have seen," says the Archbishop, "the beginning of one of his sermons, which he had written when asleep. It was well composed; but one correction surprised me. Having written at first the words ce divin enfant, he had afterwards defaced the word divin, and written over it adorable. Then perceiving that ce could not stand before the last word, he had dexterously inserted a t so as to make the word cet." He continued to write, although a card was held between his eyes and the paper.

Did the history stop here, we should have a well authenticated case of vision without the aid of eyes. But the collateral circumstances show that this writing was accomplished not by sight, but by a most accurate mental representation of the object to be attained, as will be further illustrated in our next case. For after he had written a page requiring correction, a piece of blank paper of the exact size was substituted for his own manuscript; on that he made the corrections in the precise situation which they would have occupied on the original page. A very astonishing part of this report is that which relates to his writing music in his sleeping state, with, it is said, perfect precision. He asked for certain things, and saw and heard such things, but only such things as bore directly upon the subject of his thoughts. He detected the deceit when water was given him instead of brandy, which he had asked for. Finally, he knew nothing of all that had transpired when he awoke, but in the next paroxysm he remembered all accurately; and so lived a sort of double life, a phenomenon which we believe to be usual in all the cases of exalted somnambulism.

Female Rebels.—Lately, during Sherman's march through Georgia, an officer called upon a lady in Effingham county, whose plantation has been stripped of everything, and found her in tears and her children crying for bread. He endeavored to soothe her, when she lifted up her beautiful eyes beseechingly, and implored, "Give me something for my starving children." Away the officer went to his mess and fed the children from his private larder. On the following morning he was quite chagrined to witness two oak boxes, one barrel of flour, four trunks and other articles exhumed from the garden by the Union soldiers.

"At Milledgeville," says a correspondent, "we made the acquaintance of a relative of Crawford, late Secretary of war, who kept a private table for the accommodation of officers. Many of our officers while in the city called upon her—prompted partly by the fact that among her household were several very pretty lady boarders—asked for dinner, paying therefor one dollar each. I found her to be a violent rebel, and freely entered into conversation with her on political subjects. Some of the commanders gave her a guard, which was withdrawn on the departure of the column. Seeing her hand the guard about two hundred and fifty dollars in greenbacks, I looked surprised and asked, 'Why do you do that?' Drawing herself up gradually, and frowning contemptuously, she replied: 'I am not a traitor to my country. I would not deal in the accursed trash.'"

A "Meeting by Moonlight."—Two young men, named Hall and Warnock, fell out at Grass Valley about an affair of the heart. Hall challenged Warnock, and a farcical duel was got up by the seconds, in which it was arranged that the pistols were not to be loaded with lead. W. was in the secret, but H. was not. The fight came off by moonlight near the graveyard on the 10th inst. After three rounds the principals were prevailed upon to shake hands and all that, and so the "bloody" affair ended.

"Can I show you anything more to-day, sir?" asked the civil gentleman behind the counter.

"Yes, sir," was the reply, "will you be good enough to show me the silk umbrella I left here three weeks ago?"

A celebrated physician, boasting at dinner that he cured his own hams, one of his guests observed, "Doctor, I would sooner be your ham than your patient."
